Welcome to the 2017 Stroud Green Festival!

We're thrilled to be working closely with Crouch End Festival and providing much of their classical music programme.

Our theme this year is "telling tales." Once again we're featuring internationally renowned artists, including soprano Dame Emma Kirkby with rising young members of Dowland Works; Little Baroque Company in a Family Friendly English cantata show with costumes, tea and cake; acclaimed local flautist Nancy Ruffer with harpist Jean Kelly; Ensemble Molière with Handel's much-loved Water Music and two performances of Rameau's mini-opera Pygmalion with animated film; Alma Folk Ensemble, explore the rich heritage of European myths and stories with story-teller Nick Hennessey; leading recorder ensemble Consortium5; and The Telling, featuring the haunting music of Hildegard of Bingen by candlelight, with new poetry celebrating English women mystics, Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe.

Look out too for our FREE pop-up performances in local shops, libraries and cafes – especially on Stroud Green Day: Saturday 17 June – see after Event 8 in main listings. Check out the daily schedule on www.stroudgreenfestival.org.uk

HOLY TRINITY CHURCH • FAMILY FRIENDLY

Stroud Green Festival's Manifesto Drop In event

On voting day, drop in (before or after visiting the polling station around the corner) to this 4-hour celebration of exquisite music by a host of Festival musicians, including members of Dowland Works, The Telling, The Musical Gathering and organist Marion Bettsworth.

Plus rare 18th century songs from the 1746 Drury Lane production of The Tempest by Willem Defesch (with an interesting back story of the battle between "Ariel" (Kitty Clive) and composer Thomas Arne whom Kitty sacked, despite his having written his famous 'Where the Bee Sucks', and engaging Defesch instead).

See website for programme nearer the time.

Stroud Green Day

SATURDAY 17 JUNE

Stroud Green Road will come alive with music, creativity – and a celebration of our past and present!

Join the festival and local businesses to celebrate Stroud Green Trail Day and the creative spirit of our local neighbourhood businesses. Summer of Love Local celebrates the 50th anniversary of the San Francisco Summer of Love. As well as a trail of local shops and businesses, there will be a Fun Run in aid of Stroud Green School, a community event with stalls from local community organisations, an election for the Mayor of Stroud Green and a local history walk.

Stroud Green Festival is putting on free pop-up performances in cafes and shops on Stroud Green Road including a “re-enactment” of the local 18th century drinking club The Stroud Green Corporation at The Stapleton Tavern (1pm time tbc), including a recreation of the local Stroud Green Drinking Club Song. Our pop-up events are also part of Crouch End Festival.

Find out more nearer the time at www.stroudgreenfestival.org.uk/programme/popups.htm
